GRANTING BAIL.

A Question That is Causing Much Discussion.

The inability of W. G. Baughman and J. C. Hilbert, who were arrested by Special Officer A. W. Ashworth on Thursday night and incarcerated in a filthy cell at the station house, to obtain their release on bail has created considerable talk about the way business is transacted in police circles. Baughman had $64 in money on his person, and it is claimed that his comrades in the fire department supplemented this amount with $300, and offered to take the accused home and be responsible for their good behavior until court convened Friday morning, but Sergeant Earley declined to bail them and ordered that they be locked up.

The question is asked by many, why is it that the sergeant has authority to release some people on bail and declines to release others? As an emphatic condemnation of the incarceration of Baughman and Hilbert it is alleged that they are citizens of good standing, whereas people, who have very little in the way of character at stake, have been released on the deposit of the amount of money required as surety for their appearance.

It is contended by attorneys that it is a plain violation of law for a policeman to bail out a prisoner, and that the police justice cannot legally clothe them with this power. This opinion is endorsed by City Solicitor Miller, as is the opinion that a deposit of money is not such bail as is contemplated and sanctioned by the law, and that it cannot be legally forfeited to the State or city.

Section 3900 of the code of Virginia has the following on bail—when allowed and by whom:

"A court in which any person is held and to be tried, for a criminal offense, or any judge of a circuit, county or corporation court, may admit such person to bail before conviction."

On the night Baughman and Hilbert, who were refused bail by the sergeant of police, were locked up, it is claimed by their friends that every effort was made to find the police justice, but in vain. The policemen professed ignorance of the location of his abiding place, or where he could be found, and the offer of Justice Howerton to admit the men to bail was rejected by the sergeant.

Sometimes a respectable citizen is arrested on a trivial charge and it is not thought right to incarcerate him in a cell, oftentimes unfit for the lodgment of a brute with any degree of respectability, simply because the police justice does not see proper to inform the police officers where he can be found.

The following clause from the new city charter is frequently quoted in discussing the police court:

"The police justice shall possess all the jurisdiction and exercise all the power and authority in criminal cases of a justice of the peace of said city, but he shall receive no fees for services rendered as such police justice. He shall also try all violators of the city ordinances, and inflict such punishment as may be prescribed for a violation of the same. He shall keep his office and court at the place prescribed by the City Council daily, except Sundays, and if for any cause he shall be unable to act, the mayor shall appoint one of the justices of said city to discharge the duties of the police justice, prescribed herein, during such disability and receive the same compensation."

The mayor has no jurisdiction in the matter of issuing warrants or granting bail, and as this duty devolves upon the police justice it is contended that he should remain in his office at the police court during the day, and instruct policemen when he can be found at night in the event that there was urgent need of his services. When Chief Terry arrived at police headquarters and learned of the confinement of Baughman and Hilbert, he ordered their release and accepted their bail for their appearance.

Chief Terry informed a TIMES reporter yesterday that Justice Turner had authorized both himself and Sergeant Earley to grant bail in their discretion.

A HANDSOME STRUCTURE.

Oceola Lodge to Erect a Magnificent Building.

Oceola Lodge, Knights of Pythias, of this city, is numerically and financially the strongest subordinate lodge of this order in the State.

It has made some very successful real estate deals in this city. Several years ago it bought the lot opposite the courthouse, on Campbell street, corner of Kirk avenue, which is one of the best locations in the business section, and it has been held for the purpose of erecting a fine lodge building on it.

The board of trustees, of which H. M.
Darnall is president, has decided to commence the building early in the summer, and has adopted the plans and specifications drawn by Carl Richmond, of Richmond, for a three story structure to cost $15,000.

The front of the building will be press brick. The first floor will have two store rooms on Commerce street and an entrance and a store room and entrance on Kirk avenue. The second floor will be divided into fifteen office rooms.
The lodge room, ante rooms and banqueting hall will be located on the third floor.

A sixty foot ornamental tower will be erected on the southwest corner of the building. The interior of the building will be finished in natural wood, and when completed it will be one of the finest buildings in the State.

THE NEW CIRCUIT COURT.

Full Text of the Bill Establishing the Same.

The following is the act, as it passed the legislature, prescribing the terms for the Eighteenth judicial circuit, fixing the times for holding the same and for an increase of the salary of the judge thereof:

Sec. 1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of Virginia, That there shall be four terms of the circuit court of the city of Roanoke and three for the county of Bedford, to be held as follows: For the city of Roanoke, commencing on the second Monday in January, April, July and November of each year. For the county of Bedford, commencing on the first Monday in March, June and October of each year.

Sec. 2. The judge of said court may, from time to time, change the times for the commencement of said terms, and may, whenever the business of said courts requires it, fix two additional terms for each of said courts, to commence on such day as he may prescribe.

Sec. 3. The Council of the city of Roanoke may, in their discretion, pay to the judge of said court an amount which, with the salary paid by the State, shall not exceed twenty-five hundred dollars per annum.

Sec. 4. This act shall be in force from its passage.

NEW REGISTRATION.

The Act Passed by the Legislature Providing for the Same.

Among the last acts of the legislature approved by the Governor was the one in regard to the re-registration of the voters of Roanoke city. The act was approved March 1, and reads as follows:

Section 1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of Virginia, That the electoral board of the city of Roanoke shall on or before the twentieth day of March, 1892, order a re-registration of the qualified voters of the city of Roanoke to be made by the registrars of said city commencing on the twenty-fifth day of April, 1892, and continuing for five successive days thereafter, providing in said order the respective places of said registration and shall make such other requirements as is provided by law in reference to the registration of said voters, provided that nothing in this act shall prevent any qualified voters in said city from registering on the regular registration days as now provided by law which shall fail to register on the days herein provided for.

Section 2. This act shall be in force from its passage.

A Sound Financial Condition.

The regular annual meeting of the South Roanoke Land Company was held at the company's office yesterday. The report of the president, P. L. Terry, was submitted, which showed the company to be in a sound financial condition.
The company has a capital stock of $108,500 and has earned profits amounting to $133,924. A new board of directors was elected, composed of P. L.
Terry, S. W. Jamison, Jos. H. Sands, W. S. McClanahan and James S. Simmons.
